

ImproLocura

Clown, Mime Street Show

Synopsis

ImproLocura is an unpredictable and hilarious street show that breaks the rhythm of the city (every day more boring and ordinary). An unexpected break will take you out from your daily routine, thanks to a provocative, funny and extravagant style. You will enjoy an improvised show that mixes mime, clowning techniques and sounds effects.

The Artist

Luca Della Gatta started to study circus in “Carampa” School in Madrid for one year. In this time he got close to clown life and started to study physical theater, clown and mime in the “Nouveaux Columbiere” school of Madrid, directed by José Piris, direct student of Marcel Marceau. He had chance to study with Roberto Escobar and Igon Lerchundi in their mime school in Buenos Aires and continued mime in “Accademia artimimiche” of Turin.

Graduated in 2014 at the “Performing Arts University” of Philip Radice in Turin, Italy. He works with his clown Agro since 2010 in street shows in european main cities and international street festivals.
